In the United States 10,000 people will turn 65 today! 10,000 will do the same tomorrow; and this will continue like this Each AND EVERY DAY for the next 20 years! Approximately 16% of New York residents were Medicare beneficiaries in 2012, totaling 3,093,591 individuals, according to the Kaiser Family Foundation. This means that there are literally millions of seniors who need help with Medicare insurance plans, which means there is an unprecedented opportunity for brokers to achieve success and advance their insurance careers in the Medicare industry!

As a New York licensed broker no matter what stage you are at in your insurance career, by focusing on senior products you will create an income stream that will sustain you and your business for decades to come. If you are NOT selling senior insurance products, you are likely losing clients and money to other brokers! In a tough economy, increase your bottom line!
